

Seth R. Bendix
Team Chief, Investigations Division
Office of Intelligence and Counterintelligence
U.S. Department of Energy

Seth Bendix, currently a Team Chief within the Counterintelligence Investigations and Operations Division with the Department of Energy's Office of Intelligence and Counterintelligence. In his capacity, he manages a full portfolio of counterintelligence and counterterrorism investigations involving DOE equities and countries of investigative interest, providing expert guidance on sensitive and complex national security matters.

Prior to joining the Department of Energy in 2024, Seth served extensively within the U.S. Army Counterintelligence Command, serving as the Army Counterintelligence Liaison Officer to the Federal Bureau of Investigation; a Counterintelligence Task Force Officer; Special Agent in Charge of the National Capital Region Field Office; Operations Officer; and Counterintelligence Special Agent. Over the course of his 20+ year counterintelligence career, Seth has conducted numerous, high-level, national security and counterterror investigations both within the Continental US and outside of the Continental US.

Seth is a US Army veteran with over 9 years of service and wartime deployments to both Iraq and Afghanistan.