

Adrian Murray has nearly 30 years of experience in the intelligence, counterintelligence, and law enforcement fields, and currently leads the Analysis component of the DOE Insider Threat Analysis and Referral Center (ARC). Previous to DOE, he was the Senior Investigative Analyst at the Navy Insider Threat Hub, and before that he had an interesting career in Hollywood conducting counter-piracy and anti-counterfeiting investigations for the movie industry. He has also worked as an Investigative Intelligence Analyst for the FBI, the Naval Criminal Investigative Service (as he says, “before the TV show”) and the Defense Intelligence Agency. Adrian holds a Master’s degree in Forensic Psychology from Marymount University, and a Bachelor’s in Criminology from the University of Maryland, College Park. He is also a Certified Information Systems Security Professional (CISSP), a Certified Professional Criminal Investigator (CPCI), and has earned Fundamentals and Analysis Counter-Insider Threat Professional (CCITP-F/A) certifications as well as the Global Counter-Insider Threat Professional (GCITP). In his spare time, Adrian loves racing cars, playing the drums, and coaching his son’s soccer and wrestling teams.
